

Assessing Your Child's Progress

Every child in our program is an individual, with different interests, skills, strengths, and needs. Our goal is to get to know as much as possible about each and every child so that we can guide learning and plan experiences that are just right. To do this, we use an authentic, ongoing, observation-based assessment system to gather information on each child's development and learning.

What is “authentic, ongoing, observation-based assessment?”

This kind of assessment means we will

- observe your child during regular, everyday activities on a continuous basis;
- document what we see and hear;
- take notes, collect samples of your child's drawings and writing attempts, or take photos or video clips;
- compare the information collected to research-based, widely held expectations for children of similar ages or grades; and
- use the information to support your child's learning and meet his or her individual needs.

We can work together to ensure that your child has the skills needed to be successful in school and in life.

What tool will be used to assess your child's development and learning?

We use a valid and reliable assessment tool called GOLD[®]. The starting point for the assessment is 38 research-based objectives, including many predictors of future school success. GOLD[®] describes the pathway, or progression, of how children develop and learn. We use the documentation collected to determine your child's progress related to these objectives. GOLD[®] is accessible through the MyTeachingStrategies[™] platform, strengthening the link between curriculum and assessment and providing opportunities for family engagement.

What information will be shared with me about my child's development and learning?

GOLD[®] offers a variety of tools for sharing information with you, such as reports, online portfolios containing samples of your child's work, and suggested activities, through the MyTeachingStrategies[™] Family portal. We also invite you to share your own observations about your child's development and learning. We will discuss the ways to support your child's development and learning in the classroom and share information about what you can do at home to help.
